

Josh Juffe

Josh Juffe runs Skynet, Inc., a real estate and property management firm in Harrisburg. He is expanding his holdings with property in York, Cumberland, Dauphin, Lebanon and Lancaster counties and western Pennsylvania. To learn the trade, Josh worked for his family's real estate business in the southern New Jersey Division, managing 16 people and doing $17 million in gross revenue annually.

In 1999, Josh was the youngest high-diver in the U.S., and distinguished himself with performances at Six Flag Great Adventure in Jackson, N.J., doing acrobatics from 80 feet in the air into 14 feet of water. He graduated from The Lawrenceville School, N.J., and attended Columbia University in NYC. He is married with one son and enjoys reading, gardening, golfing, traveling and spending time with his family.
